

Dodd: Adenauer Mentioned Klein

By JOHN CHADWICK

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. Thomas J. Dodd told the Senate Ethics Committee today that he did not bring up the name of Julius Klein, Chicago public relations man, at a meeting he had with German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer in 1964.

The Connecticut Democrat said it was Adenauer, not he, who mentioned Klein, a registered agent for West German interests. His meeting with Adenauer was the only time Dodd said he recalled discussing Klein during his 1964 trip to Germany.

Dodd, taking the witness chair in his own defense against charges that he acted as "an errand boy" for Klein, said he had a meeting with Adenauer and the chancellor brought up the subject of Klein "in his fashion."

"He said, 'What's the matter with Fulbright?', and I said, 'I don't know,'" Dodd said.

Sen. J.W. Fulbright, D-Ark., is chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, and Dodd said that about a week before his trip to Germany, Fulbright had made a Senate speech on "old myths and new realities."

Dodd, a member of the Foreign Relations Committee, said he told Adenauer that he didn't believe Fulbright spoke for the administration or the American people.

Dodd said Adenauer then asked him, "What about the Klein matter?"

Fulbright's committee in 1963 had conducted an investigation of foreign agents. Klein had figured in the investigation and later protested that because of "distortions" in the German press his firm had lost some of its public relations accounts.

Dodd said he told Adenauer that Klein had not been convicted or indicted for any crime, but that the committee had just been making an inquiry into the activities of foreign agents.

"That's about the whole of it," Dodd said.

His lawyer, John F. Sonnett, asked him if he had any conversations about Klein with other German officials while on the 1964 trip.

"I don't recall any," Dodd replied.

The white-haired senator was sworn as a witness in the crowded hearing room shortly after his wife had testified briefly and after Sonnett had asked that the committee's vice chairman, Sen. Wallace F. Bennett, R-Utah, be disqualified.

Chairman John Stennis, D-Miss., said the committee had no control over its members and added he was disposed just to lay the request on the table.

The committee was expected to ask Dodd where got three Oriental rugs in his home.

It wants to find out from the petite Mrs. Dodd whether the rugs were gifts from public relations man Julius Klein, the controversial lobbyist for West German business firms.

Allegations against Dodd include charges by columnists Drew Pearson and Jack Anderson that Dodd received expensive gifts in return for praising Klein to West German officials and clients.

Dodd's former office manager and personal bookkeeper, Michael O'Hare, 30, testified Thursday he saw the Oriental rugs in the senator's home in (Turn To Page 5)

Bellwood Greets Two Astronauts, Gets Space Data

BELLWOOD, Ill. (AP)—Men may indeed land on the moon by 1970, two astronauts said Sunday, but the chances are excellent that women won't be along.

The question of spacemen came up in a questions and answers session between astronauts Eugene Cernan and Thomas Stafford and an assembly of high school students, during Bellwood's tumultuous welcome to Cernan, a home-town hero.

"I'm afraid not," Cernan replied, chuckling. "The space craft is so small that the closeness of working together prohibits women at this time."

Later Cernan, Stafford, their families, and Cernan's parents had more than 50 marching units, bands and floats through Bellwood on the second day of a three-day visit.

Although the town, a suburb west of Chicago, has an official population of only 22,000, more than 150,000 persons were on hand to cheer and astronauts.

But some 500 young people in the assembly hall of Proviso East High School, which Cernan attended, got their look at the astronauts at closer range.

Cernan and Stafford narrated a color film showing highlights of their flight of Gemini 9, from blast-off to splash-down, including Cernan's record breaking walk in space.

At the end they spoke of the capsule's reentry into the earth's atmosphere.

"The whole craft was immersed in hypersonic shock waves and sheets of flame," (Turn To Page 5)

Would Discuss German Problem With Soviets

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

AP Special Correspondent

BONN, Germany (AP)—

Chancellor Ludwig Erhard says he is ready to meet with Soviet leaders at any time here or in Moscow for talks on German problems.

Renewed interest in the possibility of such talks has developed as a result of declining East-West tensions in Europe, currently dramatized by French President Charles de Gaulle's visit to the Soviet Union.

Erhard told The Associated Press in the course of an informal discussion of defense and foreign policy problems that Soviet leaders have a standing invitation to visit West Germany.

Asked whether he would be willing to go to Moscow instead, he replied: "I would also be ready to go to Moscow."

On other major issues covered during the discussion in Erhard's office at the Palais Schumburg, the chancellor made these points:

1. He opposes any major withdrawals of U.S. troops from West Germany on the ground that heavy cutbacks could increase the danger of nuclear war and undermine the sense of security of the German people.

2. He wants modification of the agreement under which West Germany buys arms in the United States to offset American dollar expenditures for maintaining six divisions in West Germany. The agreement should be changed, Erhard said, to allow West Germany to buy peaceful space equipment as well as arms for this purpose.

3. Some transitional arrangement will have to be made to cover French troops remaining in West Germany after they are formally separated from the North Atlantic Treaty Organization July 1. Erhard said he wants the French troops to stay but a new military mission and new legal basis justifying their presence has not been negotiated with France.

4. Reunification of Germany is essential to secure peace and stability in Europe but this cannot be obtained through the efforts of Germans alone. It is also a responsibility of the United States, Britain, France and the Soviet Union. Only the Soviet Union has refused reunification, Erhard said, so the key to achieving it lies in Moscow.

Erhard did not specify what problems he would like to take up with Soviet leaders, but there is no doubt reunification would be at the top of the list. The chancellor praised de Gaulle's handling of this issue during his mission to Moscow. He said he was not concerned about the French president's trip.

HONOR GOLDWYN

WOODLAND HILLS, Calif. (AP)—Hollywood celebrities have honored producer Samuel Goldwyn with dedication of a plaza in his name at the Motion Picture Country Home.

Actor Jack Lemmon praised Goldwyn Sunday for "a half-century of charitable giving."

Mother's Valor, Initiative Save Baby, Self

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP)—"Her courage and initiative saved our baby's life," says the husband of a young mother who managed to keep her 2-month-old baby and herself alive for two days in a plane wreckage on a cold, snowy mountain.

Loren Little, 24-year-old University of Washington medical student, spoke with pride as he told of the ordeal his wife, Karla, 25, underwent to save herself and their daughter, Laurie.

Mrs. Little's father and stepmother died in the crash on the snow-covered side of 9,671-foot Mt. St. Helens.

Mrs. Little suffered a broken back, broken ribs, a collapsed lung and frostbitten feet. Doctors reported she was resting comfortably in a hospital today. Her daughter has only a bruised forehead.

Little said his wife, who was rescued Saturday, recalled the ordeal clearly.

It began when Mrs. Little and her daughter were picked up in a rented plane by her father, Grant Erickson, 49, an executive of a radio supply company in Sioux Falls, S.D., and his wife.

'Black Power' Chant Shows Political Trend

By DON MCKEE

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—A chant echoes still from the Mississippi civil rights march, voicing clearly the Negro's disillusionment with past methods and his growing belief that political strength holds the key to his problem.

"Black power! Black power!" became the rallying cry suddenly after the march had been in progress for nearly two weeks.

This was the slogan that more than anything struck responsive chords. The eagerness with which the Negro masses seized upon the word disconcerted the more conservative leaders. It deepened the philosophical rift within the civil rights movement.

Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who got into the march against the advice of a key associate, found himself fighting for control against a militant faction that talked of power, violence and disorders.

King, in the end, maintained his dominant role among the leadership but recognized the changing mood of Negroes. He defended nonviolence in integration but quit talking about new federal legislation — apparently no one was interested.

The march, from all indications, stirred many Negroes to action. Hundreds flocked to voter registration offices; they joined in rallies and trudged

'Journey Against Fear'

Meredith Addresses Rally As March Ends

By JOHN S. LANG

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—The long and turbulent Mississippi march ended with James H. Meredith, who started it as a "journey against fear"—saying the "governor and every other person is going to pay attention to the Negro."

Ethics, Rights, Draft Issues Before Congress

WASHINGTON (AP)—Senatorial ethics, civil rights and the draft occupy Congress this week—but it's a good bet congressmen will be thinking mostly about vacation as the week wears along.

Congressional leaders plan to stretch the July 4 holiday into a full week, resuming work July 11.

Major action this week will be in committee sessions on both sides of the Capitol with the Senate Ethics Committee continuing its hearings into the affairs of Sen. Thomas J. Dodd, D-Conn.

The House Judiciary Committee expects to finish construction of a far-reaching new civil rights bill. The principal decision yet to be made is on a section concerning discrimination in housing.

The House Armed Services Committee continues hearings on the administration of the draft.

The House will consider the $58.61-billion defense appropriation bill, if technical preliminaries can be disposed of. Debate may start Tuesday.

The Senate has no major legislation scheduled.

"The system of white supremacy will reign no longer," Meredith told a heavily guarded rally behind the imposing State Capitol Building Sunday.

Some 16,000 persons, most of them Negroes, flowed through Jackson streets to jam into a portion of the Capitol grounds and adjacent areas.

The final leg of the march—from Tougaloo College on the outskirts of Jackson to the Capitol — and the rally were marked by a subdued atmosphere.

Meredith, 33-year-old Air Force veteran, led the procession with a number of national civil rights leaders, including Dr. Martin Luther King Jr.

Meredith drew the greatest response from the crowd, which couldn't hear half of what was said from the flatbed truck which served as a speaker's platform.

Meredith said his father, now dead, told him most white persons "are pretty decent. It's true that we got some mean white folks in Mississippi, but these people can be decent."

"There is only one thing that is holding them back. And that thing is the system of white supremacy."

"The purpose of the march that I started three weeks ago was to point up and to challenge that thing at the base of the system of white supremacy. That thing is fear — a fear that grips the Negro in America to his very bones, not only in Mississippi, but in every section of this country, because every inch of the country is controlled by the system of white supremacy."

Meredith recalled that he was shot on the second day of his march "but as you can see here, that didn't end a thing."

Meredith began the trek June 5 at Memphis, Tenn., 225 miles north of Jackson. He was wounded by a blast of birdshot from a shotgun the same day near Hernando, Miss., after covering 27 miles. A white man, Aubrey Norvell, of Memphis, (Turn To Page Five)

SMALL BUSINESSMAN OF YEAR NAMED

CARBONDALE, Ill. (AP)—Donald J. Greve, who founded a carpet factory to provide jobs for needy Oklahoma Indians, was named today the year's outstanding small businessman by a national business group.

The National Council for Small Business Management Development, holding its annual conference at Southern Illinois University, chose Greve from among three finalists.

Greve, 33, was acting manager of a hardware store when he was 15, a Chamber of Commerce member at 17, a men's club president at 20, and general manager of an Oklahoma City furniture firm at 21.

The council cited him for having founded four years ago the Sequoyah carpet mills at Anadarko, Okla., giving steady employment to Indians.

About 80 per cent of the plant's 276 employees had never held permanent jobs before, the council said.

Find Vietnamese Look To Americans For Peace

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

WASHINGTON (AP)—A limited survey of popular attitudes in government-controlled areas of South Viet Nam indicates people there tend to regard the war as an American war, officials report.

U.S. experts who conducted the survey say there also is a tendency to rely chiefly on the Americans to bring back peace and find answers to South Viet Nam's economic and other problems.

There seems to be a downswing in popular confidence in the ability of the Saigon government to handle effectively the various problems facing South Viet Nam, the survey indicated.

The sampling of Vietnamese views was understood to have been small and was taken in connection with a study of trends in the morale of the Communist Viet Cong.

After interrogating some 200 people, mostly Viet Cong defectors and prisoners, U.S. analysts said they detected what seemed to be a growing feeling of hopelessness among some elements of the Viet Cong.

The analysts reported evidence that Viet Cong morale has become fragile. They said there were signs that the combat effectiveness of some Communist units had declined.

In other weekend developments related to Viet Nam: —Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield expressed hope in an interview that U.N. Secretary-General U. Thant may be able to interest Soviet leaders in Viet Nam peace talks during his planned trip to Moscow. Mansfield also said French President Charles de Gaulle's current visit to the Soviet Union might result in a move toward neutralization of Southeast Asia — a move he said the United States should welcome.

Bombers Set Fuel Dump Afire

By ROBERT TUCKMAN

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Thousands of U.S. air cavalrymen joined the pursuit today for three North Vietnamese Battalions swarming the coastal hills of South Viet Nam's central plateau.

In North Viet Nam, U.S. Navy bombers left a large fuel dump in raging flames which sent up billows of smoke visible from as far off as their carrier 150 miles away, an American spokesman reported.

The reinforcements of skytroopers turned Operation Nathan Hale into a giant search-and-destroy sweep involving at least 6,000 U.S. combat troops. Thred survivors of a stubborn North Vietnamese battalion hit repeatedly in eight days of fighting.

U.S. intelligence sources reported that two other battalions of North Viet Nam's B army regiment were in the same area 240 miles northeast of Saigon. Together the three battalions total about 1,500 men, the sources said.

So far 395 Communists have been reported killed as the allied force, in small units, painstakingly went after the camouflaged North Vietnamese, making sporadic contact with them. Fifteen "Reds" were reported captured and 141 weapons were seized.

The new spearhead brought the bulk of the U.S. 1st Cavalry Airborne Division into action with elements of the 101st Airborne Division, U.S. Marines and several South Vietnamese Battalions in the expanding Operation Nathan Hale and put the air cavalry's commander, Maj. Gen. John Norton, in overall charge. (Turn To Page 5)

Boom In Babies Bad Business?

The old adage that "babies are good for business" is a long-accepted maxim that is meeting with increasing skepticism these days — especially among businessmen.

It is not that the assumptions on which it is based no longer hold. More babies mean, as in the past, greater demand for all the things that babies must have — and eventually greater demand for all the things that growing children, young adults and young marrieds must have — under the categories of food, clothing and shelter.

This is all right as far as it goes, but as far as it goes is the point where population growth begins burdening the economy with excessive concentration on supplying these basic needs.

This was emphasized by Richard L. Breault, associate director of research for the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, in an address before a recent National Conference on Family Planning in Washington.

The belief that babies are good for business "does not stack up to the current realities of contemporary American life," he said. "We are long past living in an economy of subsistence only."

One-third of personal income goes for luxuries today, he estimates. And today's luxury has a way of becoming tomorrow's necessity.

In 1909, some 90 million Americans got along on about $101 billion worth of goods and services. By 1965, only twice as many people needed six times as much real output — $609 billion — to maintain themselves.

The key to economic growth today, according to Breault, is not more babies but the businessman's ability to adapt himself to supplying the "variegated demand" created by the boom in personal income.

Rational family planning makes economic as well as social sense, therefore, because "it can insure a family does not become doomed to expending all its economic resources on the mere basics of subsistence."

The Roots Of Crime

The latest Supreme Court ruling drawing a wider circle of constitutional protection around the rights of criminal suspects may well be one more step in the wrong direction, as many argue — including four bitterly dissenting members of the nine-judge court itself.

Undoubtedly the new restrictions on the interrogation of suspects will make the job of the police more difficult than it already is. Justice John Harlan for one denounced the decision as "dangerous experimentation" at a time of a "high crime rate that is a matter of growing concern."

But is society's problem with crime solely that of apprehending and convicting lawbreakers? There is hardly a shortage of tenants for the nation's overcrowded prisons.

If some who belong in prison may go free because this new ruling curtails the power of the police to obtain evidence by means of confessions (though it is in keeping with standard FBI practices), thousands of others are released from prison each year because they have qualified for parole.

Yet far too great a percentage of these supposedly rehabilitated men leave prison only to renew their careers of crime until they are caught and convicted again. Far too many of them, indeed, are converted from one-time lawbreakers into hardened characters by the very experience of prison and association with other criminals.

If we are really concerned about crime and the criminal, we should do something about making our penitentiaries and reformatories the cure for antisocial behavior, rather than, as they so often are, postgraduate courses in crime.

We should worry about it at least as much as we do about capturing criminals in the first place.

Dear Ann:

Smokers Air Views Pro and Con

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: Your remarks and the column you printed by Will Jones of Minneapolis was the most effective bit of writing against cigaret smoking I have ever read. It beats the Surgeon General's report to pieces.

I am a woman who has smoked at least two packs a day for over 18 years. When I was a teen-ager I sneaked cigarets behind my parent's backs. I was never without gum or mints in my mouth when I arrived home from school. When my mother found a pack of cigarets in my purse I said I was carrying them for a friend.

My husband has asked me to quit smoking but I insisted it was a symbol of my independence and I would not allow him to dominate me. My children have begged me to quit because they heard cigarets can make people sick.

The day I read the description of how cigaret smokers look to non-smokers I threw my cigarets in the garbage can and swore off for life. I'm sure I shall never smoke another as long as I live. Thanks a million. —FREE AT LAST

Dear Free: Thank you, but not all readers share your enthusiasm for my comments. Please read on:

Ann Landers: I am not calling you "dear" because you are an idiot and a trouble-maker. Why don't you go out and play in the traffic?

That column on cigaret smoking was an insult to millions of Americans. I, for one, demand an apology.

I am an attractive, well-groomed, well-mannered woman of 45. My friends consider me immaculate. I am neither ill-bred, ill-mannered, nor inconsiderate. My clothes do not stink and I resent being told that I stink up the world around me.

Men and women have been smoking for centuries and they are going to continue to smoke in spite of Ann Landers and that scrawny little Minneapolis, the Surgeon General, the family doctor and the handful of nuts who are trying to make it illegal. Why? Because smoking is a source of relaxation and in this hectic world people need it to survive. —NICOTINE ADDICT WHO ENJOYS EVERY PUFF

Dear Addict: I hope you are one who WILL survive. Some haven't—and the list is getting longer all the time.

Good luck to you—and the longer you smoke, the more you'll need it.

Dear Ann: Will Jones is right. It IS a smoker's world. And it's going to continue to be a smoker's world. So why doesn't he get out of it? —SOUTH BENDER

Dear Ann: You and that gink in Minneapolis are both nuts. Can you imagine phoning friends to invite them to a party in your home and asking them if they smoke? And if they say "yes?" telling them to stay home? It's insane. —MADISON MRS.

Dear Ann: Why don't you and Jones go live in Russia? You'd make great dictators. —NEW HAVEN, CONNECTICUT

Dear Ann Landers: I resent the remarks by that loon in Minneapolis. So he hates women smokers, does he? He sounds like a maniac who must be on something stronger than cigarets.

We must all overlook faults in other people. If Will Jones so despises women smokers that he would wear a cigaret from a woman's mouth then why does he take her out? I'd like to hear his answer to this question. —PEACE PIPE

Dear Pipe: So would I. How about it, Will, baby? If you'll write it, I'll print it.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

LBJ Unshaken By Viet Polls

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
Washington Correspondent
WASHINGTON (NEA) — The continuing decline in popular support for President Johnson's Viet Nam war policies is not altering in the slightest degree his resolve to keep on the same course.

The latest public opinion polls show that support now is hovering just above the 40 per cent mark.

For the first time, too, the President has seen a poll which has him trailing a potential 1968 Republican presidential candidate. A statewide sampling in Iowa for the Des Moines Sunday Register gives Gov. George Romney of Michigan 46 per cent, Johnson 35 per cent.

The President won Iowa by 284,000 votes in 1964, though Richard Nixon had taken it from the late John F. Kennedy by 172,000. The same Iowa poll, incidentally, puts Johnson ahead of Nixon, 44 to 39, in a trial heat.

It is no surprise to hear presidential associates say that LBJ is not thinking about 1968 right now. The evidences of slipping support on Viet Nam ARE of real concern to him.

He does not want to see the present huge Democratic margins in the House and Senate diminished this fall to the point where he might have trouble getting major programs approved in the second half of his term. The fear of big Republican gains has grown.

But beyond this, friends say, the President simply refuses to be shaken from a Viet Nam course he believes to be right and necessary for the country. More troops are said to be due in South Viet Nam in the next few months.

The adverse polls could hardly make him happy. Yet there is considerable testimony that he takes criticism and bad news a good deal more calmly than he once did.

"I think he has really adjusted to the job," says an associate.

Sensitivity to criticism is an occupational ailment of presidents. Even some of Johnson's friends think he took longer than most to learn to live with it. His preoccupation with work, his refusal to seek rewarding distractions probably contributed to the slowness of his adjustment.

Having apparently managed it, he is represented as determined not to govern by the weathervane of the opinion polls, not to tinker with what he considers sound programs and policies merely to court higher favor with the people.

He is perhaps tired of reading, as he did through much of 1964 and 1965, that he wants to be loved and will do almost anything to be loved. One aide suggests that, more than ever, he is thinking these days about his place in the history books.

In the specific case of Viet Nam, his conviction as to the rightness of his policies has been greatly underscored by his judgment that the celebrated Fulbright hearings neither demonstrated the folly of those policies nor offered the faintest sign of a reasonable alternative.

His intellectual critics sound to him in 1966 about as they sounded in 1965. He did not think they had a case then.

So Lyndon Johnson is just plowing ahead as before on Viet Nam. He would like to see poll trends reversed on that issue, since a turn-around would signal fresh hope of his party holding its own in the November elections.

Yet, no matter how comforting it might be, he no longer needs the reassurance he once got from his famous collection of favorable polls — dog-eared as they were from being handled from his pocket at the slightest pretext.

Unless controlling events intervene, the people who dislike the President's Viet Nam policies may have to try to vote him out in 1968. Even if that were done, any plausible successor in GOP circles might pursue much the same course.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The war in Viet Nam is like a blind puppy. It scampers, skips, butts its head, barks in pain. With this year almost half over, the end is still no more in sight than at the start of 1966.

There was chaos in Viet Nam, criticism at home, confusion elsewhere among Communists and non-Communists in the first half of 1966. In Indonesia the Reds suffered disaster without any war at all.

Near the end of 1965 the United States stopped bombing North Viet Nam while President Johnson sent his emissaries scooting around overseas, talking peace, seeking signs of it. There were none. Hanoi stood firm.

So did Johnson. The bombing was resumed. The ground fighting continued. More deaths on both sides, more U.S. troops to Viet Nam. At home the critics of the war teamed up on Johnson, in and out of Congress.

Johnson ordered a restrained war, wary of the critics, concerned about the dangers, perhaps with Red China, if he stepped it up too much. And as the routine war continued chaos engulfed South Viet Nam.

Public opinion polls showed dwindling confidence in Johnson's handling of the fighting. In America youths paraded, performed and protested against the war. This was a mixed picture, too.

While some of the protesters must be credited with earnest convictions thoughtfully arrived at, for others the motivations probably ranged from a simple desire to assert themselves to (Turn To Page Five)

What The Child With Everything May Miss

By RUTH MILLETT

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
A juvenile court judge who has been dealing with young delinquents for 25 years says that the best thing parents can do to keep their children out of trouble is to love each other. He's right, of course. A child who knows with certainty that his parents love and respect each other has real security.

He doesn't lie awake at night worrying about quarreling parents, frightened by the anger and hatred in their voices. He doesn't have to take sides in his own mind, choosing which parent to trust — and which one to fear.

He isn't the target for an unhappy parent's anger or the overindulgence of the other parent who tries to make up for the harsh parent's actions.

He can't play one parent against the other — if they stand side by side.

He doesn't have to worry for fear his parents will get a divorce, like the parents of some of his friends.

And he has the wonderful advantage of growing up in a happy home.

But in today's child-oriented society, a great many parents who honestly want to do right by their children get so involved in trying to give their children everything that they forget their love for each other: 1: the most important thing of all.

And that is, perhaps, why we have more and more troubled and delinquent children and teenagers coming from so-called good homes — homes that offer a child everything but the certain knowledge that the two most important persons in his young life love and trust and respect each other.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Early Immunization Vital To Assure Polio Protection

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Although poliomyelitis vaccine can be given at any time of the year, it is rarely given in the summer and autumn (the polio season) because, if the child should fail to develop his immunity in time and comes down with the disease, someone is sure to blame the vaccine.

It is especially important to see that all children between the ages of 2 months and 6 years get this protection. The oral combined vaccine against all three of the prevalent poliomyelitis strains has been proved to be safe. It will give the child immunity within a week after it is taken. If a child had his initial polio vaccine during his first year of life a booster dose just before he enters elementary school is recommended. No further boosters are needed unless an epidemic threatens the community. If a thoroughgoing immunization program has been carried out, this is not likely to occur.

Q—Is a hot cereal really better for a child than a cold cereal? Are pancakes made with one egg more nutritious than a bowl of cold cereal just because they are more filling? Is dry milk (reconstituted) as nutritious as whole fresh milk?

A—Ounce for ounce the cold cereals are as nutritious as the hot but it takes a larger volume to make an ounce. More important than the temperature of the cereal is how appealing it is to your child. Remember, too, that wheat and oats are richer in vitamins and minerals than corn and rice.

The pancakes are more nutritious, not only because they are more filling but also because of that egg you put in them. Powdered whole milk is as nutritious as fresh milk but, since it is more expensive, its chief advantage is that in the dry state it needs no refrigeration and can be used in places where fresh milk is not available.

There are also modified milk powders (not whole milk) but they should be used only on the advice of your doctor.

Q—Our 10-year-old boy has had alopecia areata since September. The only comment our doctor made was that the hardest thing for mom and dad was not to worry about it. Isn't there anything we can do for this condition?

A—Your doctor is right. Patchy baldness may persist for several months but eventually the hair comes back unless the disease extends to all the hair, including even the eyebrows and eyelashes. Meanwhile massage, supplementary vitamin B complex and exposure of the involved areas to the sun or a sun lamp to produce a mild burn but no blisters may be helpful.

Crowd Con Carne

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.
July 4th guests usually have patriotic appetites. Remember that when you throw a big Independence Day celebration for 20 or more friends, relatives or visiting firemen. It can be fun, particularly if you rely on tested quantity recipes and menus. Do not guess how much food you will need. Instead find out from sociably minded experts in this sort of thing.

A new 75-page pamphlet, "Feeding A Crowd—The Main Course—Vol. II" is packed with the advice you will welcome. Ideal also if you are planning a church or club supper, or a Cousins Party, like the one a friend just gave for 27 of her first, once-removed and second cousins.

Try either of these recipes from the pamphlet for your July 4th supper.

Chili Con Carne

6 cans (1 lb. each) kidney beans
3 cans (1 lb. 12 oz. each) tomatoes

Polly's Pointers Mom Needs High Chair Tip

By POLLY CRAMER

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — We have a chrome-plated high chair. It has to be washed three times a day and I want to know a way to keep it from rusting. I have tried putting aluminum foil over the tray. —MRS. G. B.

DEAR POLLY — I want to tell Violet that I have taken many letters off my husband's bowling shirts and the places where they were cannot even be seen. First I took a razor blade and a pair of manicure scissors and cut the threads ON TOP, not the wrong side. Doing it on the right side eliminates the danger of making holes in the shirt. After cutting the letters through I found a paper card form underneath which gave me a clue as to the starting thread which I pulled. This really works and leaves no marks after the shirt is laundered. —MARTHA

DEAR POLLY — The letters on a bowling shirt are usually done on a machine which makes a chain locked stitch. Unloop the thread and find the correct end. Pull this and the whole initial can be unraveled. —MRS. R. K.

DEAR GIRLS — Some readers said they had found guides for the letters stamped on the shirts under the stitched on letters and they were hard to remove. Others said the stitching is often done with such heavy thread that small holes remain. Most said that after several washings the shirts looked very good. —POLLY

DEAR POLLY — The following Pointer is from my husband. When expecting a number of guests who may have trouble finding your home at night, just turning on the porch light may not be enough. Some of the neighbors may have their on, too. In the socket of your porch light insert one of those flashers used for blinking Christmas tree lights off and on. They cost very little at the hardware store. Tell your guests to come to the house with the flashing light. —MRS. T. E. K.

DEAR POLLY — We have four children so the thermometer seems to be in constant use during the sore throat and flu season. My husband took an empty PLASTIC capsule bottle, put a dab of cotton in the bottom and made a hole in the cap. Fill it about two thirds full of alcohol and insert the thermometer through the cap. We now have a handy holder and sterilizer. —MRS. G. G.

Every bridge book makes a point of saying that a good five card suit is rebiddable. Most of them fail to go one step further and point out that "rebiddable" does not mean that you must rebid it, but merely that you may when advisable. Do not rebid it just because it is right there in your hand.

Specifically, when you hold 5-3-3-2 distribution and your partner bids any number of no-trump there is usually no reason at all to rebid your five card suit. If your five card suit will run as a trump, it will probably run at no-trump. You have no singleton. Hence you have no glaring weakness that the enemy will attack.

Today's South had never learned these principles. Hence, he rebid three clubs to show that he held a five card club suit. North might well have persisted in no-trump but North had only one stopper in each suit and felt that he should support clubs rather than let his partner.

South had a play for five clubs. He won the spade lead in his own hand, played ace and another heart and finessed dummy's jack. The finesse lost and he was down one trick.

North would have had a lead pipe cinch at three no-trump. As a matter of interest he probably would have wound up with 11 tricks because East might well have opened a heart away from his queen-ten. This would give North three hearts, two spades, two diamonds and four clubs. —27

TODAY'S QUESTION
You bid one club. Your partner responds one diamond. What do you do now?

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie-Television Writer
HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Hey, Leo — if nice guys finish last, how come Martie Balsam won the Oscar?
He won it, all right, playing a role you might have missed if you went into the lobby for popcorn. Nonetheless, a mustachioed Martin Balsam ascended to the stage of the Santa Monica Civic Auditorium on April 18 to claim his prize as best supporting actor of 1965 for his performance in "A Thousand Clowns."

The actor immediately returned to the Tucson, Ariz., location of "Hombre." He is now back in Hollywood to finish the film and enjoy the fruits of his triumph.

He was asked if his fellow performers in "Hombre" — Paul Newman, Fredric March, Diane Cilento, Richard Boone, etc. — were treating him with proper respect?

"Not at all," he replied. "They're treating me worse than before."

He was kidding, I think. Few actors in films are better liked by their contemporaries than Balsam.

"I must admit," he admitted, "people have been wonderful about the award. That has been the best part about it: the reaction of friends."

Balsam isn't about to let the Oscar go to his head. At 44, he has clocked 25 years as an actor. Bronx-born, he studied dramatics at New York's New School for Social Research, got his first job in a Long Island stock company.

After wartime service as a flight engineer with the Air Force, he tried his luck as a night club comic, then eased into television. His first film was "On the Waterfront," and he quickly became one of the screen's most serviceable character actors ("Marjorie Morningstar," "Psycho," "Breakfast at Tiffany's," "The Carpetbaggers," etc.).

"I almost didn't take the job in 'A Thousand Clowns,'" Balsam said. "The part wasn't that big, and I didn't think I wanted to play another agent."

"But I happened to be in New York when they were shooting there, and my wife was having a baby, so I took the picture."

The World Today

discontent with things in general. But they made noise. So did the Buddhists in Viet Nam. Right in the midst of the murky war they gyrated through the streets of Da Nang, Hue, Saigon, demanding civilian government.

Premier Nguyen Cao Ky and his government of generals agreed to oblige, set in motion the machinery for civilian government. Rendered ridiculous by success, the Buddhists then demanded a quick exit by the generals.

Looking back on it, their whole performance looked irresponsible for they never made clear how they would run a government or even that they could. But they performed.

Buddhists, men and women, burned themselves to death, spread latrines in the streets, multiplied anarchy. Ky suppressed them. Their futile leader, Tri Quang, took refuge in a hunger strike.

Ky grabbed him, empty stomach and all, put him in custody. The Buddhist revolt collapsed. But all this involved months, slowed the war, made many Americans wonder whether this country should be mixed up in it at all.

And even if Ky emerged looking like a strong man, this may not last in a land so unpredictable. But it was a slow six months mostly everywhere, and just as murky as Viet Nam.

In Europe, French President Charles de Gaulle, with reports indicating he never even discussed the momentous step with his cabinet, decided to do the wrecking job on the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

He decided to pull his troops out of NATO. It was a shattering thing. It could have been a disaster for the Western alliance. Sometime it may prove to have been just that.

But the other 14 NATO allies patched the pieces together and De Gaulle made a trip to the Soviet Union, although nobody seems to know why, perhaps not even De Gaulle. Years from now he may seem to have been as irresponsible as Tri Quang.

Tensions, however, were off the United States if only because tensions between the Soviet Union and Red China increased. While they fussed and fumbled communism encountered a disaster where unexpected and without battle.

The pro-Red Indonesian government of President Sukarno was taken over by the military, Indonesian Communists by the thousands were reported slaughtered, and the country now will probably turn pro-West.

On May 29 several hundred demonstrators tore down and burned a big government signboard in Gdansk—Danzig—after an ovation for the cardinal. Police broke up the crowd and arrested more than a dozen.

A confrontation between police and at least 1,000 Catholics nearly erupted in violence Friday night. Shouting demonstrators refused to let motorcycle police clear the street in front of the primate's palace and the policemen finally rode off.

Sunday night's demonstrations started after more than 50,000 Catholics jammed St. John's Cathedral and nearby streets for services including a week-long celebration of the millennium in Warsaw.

Hundreds of Communist party workers blocked street intersections to try to keep Catholic crowds from surging into the center of the city.

that the United States has decided to bomb oil storage depots near the North Vietnamese cities of Hanoi and Haiphong. But he refused to shut the door on this possibility in the future.

John A. Gronouski, U.S. ambassador to Poland, in a copy-right interview in U.S. News & World Report, said his discussions with representatives of Red China have not produced great progress toward reducing tensions between the two countries. But, he added, "these talks are important" because "they provide a forum for discussing a whole series of issues that confront both nations, in Southeast Asia particularly, but also throughout the world."

Secretary of State Dean Rusk said that although North Viet Nam probably will reject U. Thant's proposals for mutual reduction of military action, the Hanoi regime is having "second thoughts about the prospects of succeeding in South Viet Nam."

And despite many contacts with Hanoi, Rusk said, no peace overtures have been made by the North Viet Nam government. He gave his views in a prerecorded radio-television broadcast with Rep. Frank Horton, R-N.Y.

was charged with attempted murder and is free on a $25,000 bond in the case.

King and other national civil rights figures rushed in to take up the march mission, turning it into a Negro voter registration crusade. They led the marchers off U.S. 51 — the route planned by Meredith — and meandered through the heavily Negro populated delta area.

The trek covered 252 miles on the highways, many more inside such Mississippi towns as Batesville, Grenada, Greenwood, Itta Bena, and Belzoni. A side trip by auto to Philadelphia for a rally unleashed violence and a task force from the march returned to the east-central Mississippi town last Friday for a two-mile walk to the courthouse under heavy police guard.

There was also violence at Canton, where the marchers were dispersed by police tear gas when they tried to set up tents on a school yard which authorities had forbidden them to use.

Some 2,000 whites clustered near the Capitol, impassively watching the rally. They included 50 Ku Klux Klansmen wearing green pants and shirts, with white ties and white belts.

"We just came down here to make sure these niggers don't cause any trouble," said a leader, who declined to give his name. "If they don't, we won't."

The man said his Klan group was the Black Knights of the Green Forest.

American flags fluttered in the hands of many marchers.

Survival

They planned to fly to Norwalk, Calif., for the golden wedding anniversary of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Erickson.

"I was supposed to go with them," Little said. "At the last minute I changed my mind."

Flying south toward Portland, Ore., Thursday the four ran into heavy weather. Mrs. Little thinks a wingtip struck the rocky side of the mountain.

Erickson crash-landed the craft on a ledge at the 5,500-foot level. He and his wife were killed.

Little, describing his father-in-law as a "very cautious pilot, a sensible flier," noted that last reports from the plane had its altitude as 8,500 feet. He believes Erickson fought to bring the crippled craft to its crash landing at a much lower altitude, "probably saving the life of my wife and child."

The young husband flew with the search planes, refusing to abandon hope through a long Friday and into Saturday afternoon.

Inside the broken plane, Little's wife, paralyzed below the waist, cuddled and nursed her baby.

Vainly through the long hours she tried to reach a bag containing supplemental food. She did manage to reach two baby blankets, wrap Laurie in one and stuff the other in a broken window to keep out windblown snow.

Rocks kept falling from above, bouncing and clattering on the wreckage.

Thursday she could hear the search planes. Friday she saw them but had no way or strength to signal. Finally, Saturday afternoon, a helicopter spotted the broken plane.

She asked the first rescuer, a paramedic, to "get the food and feed the baby."

Mother and infant were evacuated by helicopter to a hospital in Longview, Wash. There Little was reunited with his daughter and his wife, who was groggy from pain and exhaustion and had forgotten Loren had not been aboard the plane.

"She opened her eyes and looked at me for about 15 seconds," said Little. "Then she said, 'I thought you were dead.'"

Stafford said. "The fireball lasts about five minutes," Cernan added. "The nose of the space craft actually burns on reentry."

Then the questions poured in: They were asked about the food. "It's much better here on the ground," Stafford said.

A student wanted to know about unidentified flying objects and Cernan said: "Our world is really pretty small when you think of outer space. There could be people somewhere else."

"Do you want to go up again?" Cernan was asked. "Boy, would I," the astronaut replied. "After you go up once you're even more anxious to go up again."

Washington's Georgetown section, but didn't know who paid for them.

O'Hare, one of the group of former Dodd employees who turned office files over to Pearson and Anderson, said under usual circumstances he would have taken care of the bills if Dodd had purchased the rugs.

Also scheduled to make a reappearance in the committee's fourth day of open hearings was former Dodd staffer Gerard Zeiller, now employed by Sen. Norris Cotton, R-N.H.

Zeiller already has denied testimony by Marjorie Carpenter, Dodd's former personal secretary, that he once speculated Dodd got $10,000 from Klein for praising the lobbyist on a German trip.

The testimony by the attractive Mrs. Carpenter brought Dodd to his feet in the hearing to accuse her of perjury.

After Dodd's testimony, the committee may take a break for the July 4 holiday and hear testimony by Klein on his return from a trip to Europe.

Viet War

Eight Army helicopter crewmen were killed today when two choppers collided near Tuy Hoa.

To the North, U.S. Marines and Vietnamese troops went after the remnants of another battalion of North Vietnamese regulars and hardcore guerrillas in tunnels and bunkers northwest of Hue, 400 miles north of Saigon. The Leathernecks counted 66 enemy bodies, took four North Vietnamese regulars prisoner and captured 37 weapons, a spokesman reported in Saigon.

Marine officers at the battle estimated that relentless U.S. air and artillery fire may have cost the lives of 300 Communists, or about half the enemy force.

The air raid against the North Vietnamese oil installation left an inferno that glowed late into the night.

An American spokesman reported eight casualties over-all in the fighting 13 miles from Hue. However, one Marine company took heavy losses from a Communist mortar barrage Saturday when several Marine battalions began Operation Jay.

The Marines were backed up by units of the Vietnamese 1st Division, some of whose men sided with Buddhist rebels in Hue in the weeks of political turmoil in the northern city. In another move to neutralize dissident Buddhists, government troops seized radio equipment in a pagoda where the struggle movement had made antigovernment, anti-American propaganda broadcasts.

Though his ranks are divided following Premier Nguyen Cao Ky's firm stand against the militants, the nominal head of the Buddhist Institute voiced a mild threat to boycott the Sept. 11 election for a constituent assembly to draft a constitution.

"It is possible we will boycott the elections," the relatively moderate monk Thich Tam Chau told newsmen. He said a final decision will be made by the institute's council.

The institute is the political arm of the Unified Buddhist Church which claims to speak for two million persons.

Thich Tri Quang, Ky's leading Buddhist opponent, entered the 20th day of a sugar-liquid diet at the Saigon clinic where the government placed him after his arrest in Hue last week.

Doctors said the 42-year-old monk was in a state of near exhaustion and could lapse into a coma at any time. He has vowed to continue the fast until the government resigns.

Andretti Ready To Turn Hand To Stock Car

ATLANTA (AP) — After 500 consecutive miles as a front-runner in U.S. Auto Club races, Mario Andretti is ready to turn his fine Italian hand to the wheel of a stock car.

The 26-year-old native of Trieste, Italy, led all the way Sunday in winning the second annual Championship 300 at Atlanta International Raceway in his sleek Dean Racing Enterprises rear-engine Ford.

His victory came on top of two straight USAC wins at Milwaukee and Langhorne, both of which he led from start to finish. This is the first time in USAC history a driver had led 500 consecutive miles.

"This is the tidiest I've ever been after a race," Andretti said, adding that the 90-degree heat which shimmered over the 1½-mile high-banked asphalt Atlanta Raceway was troublesome.

But he's ready to take over the wheel of a Dodge Charger in next week's Firecracker 400 at Daytona Beach, Fla. "It's a good car," he said.

Andretti, who now lives at Nazareth, Pa., had nothing but praise for the rear-engine Ford he drove in the Atlanta race. "The car ran just beautifully," he said. "Thank God for the mechanics."

Andretti made only one pit stop in the 300-mile race and his mechanics got him back on the track after only 22 seconds. He pitted shortly after the halfway point on the 114th lap.

He finished a lap ahead of Billy Foster of Victoria, B.C., who also drove a rear-engine Ford. However, he was penalized three laps for passing two cars during a caution flag, dropping him to third place.

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advance evaporated in moderate trading late this afternoon.

Volume for the day was estimated at 5.6 million shares, compared with 7.4 million Friday.

Zenith fell more than 2 points and Sperry Rand was off more than a point.

Losses of better than 2 points were taken by Pan American World Airways, American Airlines, United Air Lines and Eastern Air Lines.

U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Jones & Laughlin held onto their gains of half a point.

IBM's advance of 4 points withered to a loss of more than a point.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher in heavy trading.

Perry Now Looking Lot Like Marichal

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Gaylord Perry is running like Jim Marichal and winning like him too.

Perry continued his sprint toward teammate Marichal and Los Angeles' Sandy Koufax Sunday, pitching a two-hitter as the National League-leading San Francisco Giants stopped Cincinnati's eight-game winning streak 10-0.

The victory was the 10th against one defeat for Perry, giving him a .909 percentage, the best among the league's top pitchers. Marichal, at 13-2, has an .867 mark while Koufax, who posted his 14th triumph against two defeats Sunday, is at .875.

In rambling toward the best season of his five-year major league career, Perry has picked up one of Marichal's habits. Instead of plodding slowly to the mound each inning as virtually all pitchers do, Marichal runs.

Perry did it Sunday, except for the last couple of innings, despite 94-degree weather and a weak left ankle.

"I want to work extra hard to stay in rotation," Perry explained. "I want to try and impress Herman Franks."

Perry undoubtedly has impressed Manager Franks — and all of the other managers in the league.

Wins 10 Despite Injury
The 27-year-old right-hander has accomplished half a 20-game season even though he missed nearly three weeks after hurting his left ankle sliding into second base May 24.

In other NL games, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 2-1, Pittsburgh trimmed Philadelphia 2-0, Houston topped St. Louis 6-3 in 11 innings and Chicago whipped New York 7-0 before losing 8-2.

In the American League, Baltimore outslug California 12-7, Minnesota swept Detroit 7-5 and 7-1, Cleveland bombed Kansas City 14-3 after bowing 4-2, New York swept Chicago 7-2 and 2-0 and Washington downed Boston 9-3 after losing 13-7.

While Perry pitched the Reds, the Giants exploded with five home runs — two by Tom Haller and one each by Jim Davenport, Don Landrum and Jim Hart. Jim Maloney suffered his third defeat. He has won nine.

Koufax Claims 14th
Koufax became the winning pitcher in the majors, scattering seven hits and striking out 11. The Braves tied the game 1-1 in the fifth on Hank Aaron's run-scoring single, but the Dodgers pulled it out in the ninth on Denis Menke's two-base error and Willie Davis' two-base hit.

Woody Fryman shut out Philadelphia on three hits while Roberto Clemente and Willie Stargell, who walked, scored the Pirate runs. Jose Pagan singled home Clemente in the fourth inning, and Donn Clendenon brought Stargell home in the eighth with a triple.

Jim Wynn's three-run homer off Joe Hoerner in the 11th inning boosted Houston past St. Louis. The Astros, blanked on five hits by Al Jackson.

Ron Santo extended his hitting streak to 25 straight games before leaving the game in the third inning. Santo suffered a double fracture of the left cheek bone when hit by a Jack Fisher pitch.

The Mets came back in the nightcap behind Dennis Ribant's six-hitter. The game was tied 1-1 until the eighth when New York scored five runs. The Mets broke it open after Glenn Beckert fumbled Johnny Lewis' grounder, allowing two runs to score.

City Power Rallies For 10-8 Margin

TAYLORVILLE — Jacksonville City Power came from an early 5-0 deficit to forge ahead, then won the game on two unearned runs in the top of the ninth in a 10-8 Little Eight League victory over Taylorville, here Sunday afternoon.

Taylorville jumped on Jacksonville starter Willie Kording for four runs in the first and made it 5-0 on an unearned tally in the fifth. City Power, held to only one base runner through the first four frames, broke the ice with two in the fifth on singles by Gary Spangenberg, Bill Tobin, Wayne Smith and Kording.

Jacksonville turned the game around with a big six-run seventh in which the locals pounded out six of their 11 hits for the day. Ron Coleman reached on an error, and Tobin was safe on a fielder's choice. Smith singled to right, followed by singles by Kording, Larry Englebright, Buford Green, a clutch two-run double by Fred Curtis and Joe O'Donnell's run-producing single for an 8-5 Jacksonville lead.

After Taylorville tied the game with two in the seventh and a single run in the eighth, on a three-base error, Jacksonville got two in the ninth to lead for good. In the Jacksonville ninth Englebright singled, O'Donnell and Curtis walked, and Coleman's ball to the shortstop was booted, letting both runs score.

Jacksonville is now 3-1 in the league, while Taylorville dropped to 1-3. Elsewhere around the league, Riverton stayed in front on a 4-0 record with a 6-2 victory over Florence, and Springfield stayed tied with Jacksonville for second with a win over Decatur.

YEAR'S BEST 5,000 METERS

Santo The Loser In Beanball Fray

CHICAGO (AP) — Ron Santo, the Chicago Cubs' top candidate for the All-Star team, will undergo surgery today for a fractured left cheekbone after being hit Sunday by New York Met pitcher Jack Fisher.

The beaming of the veteran third baseman came in the third inning shortly after Met Manager Wes Westrum and Cub Manager Leo Durocher exchanged heated words over a beanball battle which erupted in the second inning.

However, Westrum and plate umpire Chris Pelekoudas both held that the hitting of Santo was unintentional and that the pitch merely got away from Fisher.

Santo, who had extended his hitting streak to 25 straight games with a single in the first inning, was carried off the field on a stretcher and it was expected he will be sidelined for at least two weeks.

The incident began in the second inning of the first game of a doubleheader which the Cubs won 7-0 behind southpaw Curt Simmons.

Adolfo Phillips, who had homered for Chicago in the first inning, was hit by Fisher in the left elbow and had to leave the game.

Simmons Hits Hunt
When the Mets came to bat in the third, Simmons hit Ron Hunt and that started the argument between Westrum and Durocher with Westrum being restrained by the other umpires after brushing Pelekoudas away.

"Westrum was trying to get Durocher," said Pelekoudas. "I tried to grab him but he brushed me off like a fly."

Hurt Kauai King Will Be Retired

BALTIMORE (AP) — Injured Kauai King will be returned to Maryland and retirement.

Mike Ford will return $280,000 to syndicate members who purchased shares in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness winner.

Those were the rapid-fire developments after a veterinarian examined X rays of Kauai King's left front ankle Sunday and said he couldn't guarantee the 3-year-old colt would ever return to top form.

Kauai King, who finished fourth in the Belmont Stakes after winning the first two portions of the Triple Crown, pulled up lame last Saturday after a fifth-place finish in the Arlington Classic.

After being advised of Kauai King's long and possibly uncertain recovery period, Ford announced that the colt would be retired to stud at Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Sagamore Farm just outside Baltimore.

Ford, Kauai King's original sole owner, also reduced from $70,000 to $80,000 the value of each of the 36 shares in the syndicate which was organized after the Belmont.

Ford, who remained the largest stockholder in the syndicate by retaining title to eight shares, said he slashed the price "not as an inducement to stay in the syndicate, but as a show of good faith."

Each member of the syndicate, he told racing editor Bill Boniface of the Baltimore Sunpapers in a telephone interview, "will have the opportunity of getting out completely or taking the drop in price."

Will Buy In
Jerold Hoffberger, who organized what will now be a $2,100,000 syndicate, said he had talked with as many syndicate members as he could reach, "and nobody has said he's not going to buy in."

Ford announced his decision after receiving a report from Dr. Raymond Murphy of Laurel, Md.

After examining wet X rays, LONDON (AP) — Cliff and Nancy Richey can make history today by becoming the first brother-and-sister duo to reach the Wimbledon singles quarter-finals together.

After a weekend of waiting in the rain, the Richeys, of Dallas, Tex., were among the first competitors as the second week of the tournament got under way.

Nancy, 23, is almost there. She led Kathy Harter, of Seal Beach, Calif., 6-2, 2-0 before their fourth round match was halted by rain Saturday.

Cliff, 19, had a far tougher task. He was paired against Tony Roche, the Australian left-hander who won both the Italian and French titles this year and is seeded No. 2.

Roche has nursed an injured left ankle through the first three rounds, and has dropped only one set in that time.

Richey has nothing to trouble him except his erratic temperament. He battled through two four-setters and one five-setter last week to reach the fourth round.

Besides Richey, America has only one hope left for the men's title — Dennis Ralston, the 23-year-old Bakersfield, Calif., star, who has already reached the quarter-finals.

Three Australians are also in the last eight — Roy Emerson, the defending champion, Owen Davidson and Bob Hewitt.

Manuel Santana, the colorful court artist from Spain, was on the brink of joining them. He had a 2-0 sets lead over Bobby Wilson of Britain when rain interrupted their match on Saturday.

Ken Fletcher of Australia also was well placed, leading India's Lajid Mukerjee two sets to one.

The remaining fourth-round duel on today's program was between Cliff Drysdale of South Africa and Jan Leschly of Denmark.

Emerson, who is bidding for his third straight Wimbledon title, was still favorite as the second week started. So far he has won four matches without losing a set.

On Saturday he played with his usual ruthless efficiency, brushing aside Stan Smith, former U.S. junior champion from Pasadena, Calif., 6-2, 6-2, 6-2.

Powell Third Big Gun For Orioles

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

His name isn't Robinson, but Boog Powell is hitting like one. Powell, who hasn't been getting the same recognition accorded Frank and Brooks Robinson in Baltimore's run for the American League pennant, again emphasized his credentials Sunday by driving in four runs with three hits in a 12-7 blasting of the California Angels.

And the way he's been going recently, the 24-year-old slugging first baseman may be ready to claim an equal share with the Robinsons in the Orioles' power structure.

At this time last month, Powell was hitting a woeful .185. Since then he has hit at a .402 clip while hammering nine homers and 30 runs batted in. The month-long burst has lifted his totals to where they bear favorable comparison with the more publicized Robinsons.

HR RBI BA
F. Robinson 19 44 332
B. Robinson 15 63 287
Powell 15 45 295

With Powell driving in his four runs, Frank striking four times, Brooks knocking in the lead run and Russ Snyder collecting five hits — and taking over the AL batting lead with a .338 average — the Orioles built their league lead to three games over Detroit.

2 Twinbills Swept
Minnesota clipped the Tigers twice 7-5 and 7-1, the New York Yankees swept the Chicago White Sox 7-2 and 2-0, Kansas City defeated Cleveland 4-2 before the Indians came back for a 14-3 triumph and Boston walloped Washington 13-7 before the Senators turned the tables 9-3.

In the National League, San Francisco crushed Cincinnati 10-0, Los Angeles edged Atlanta 2-1, Pittsburgh blanked Philadelphia 2-0, Houston defeated St. Louis 6-3 in 11 innings and the New York Mets downed Chicago 8-2 after the Cubs took the opener 7-0.

The Orioles, who wound up with 20 hits, led 3-0 and 4-3 but had to come from behind a 7-5 deficit in the eighth inning. Frank Robinson's single and an error by Jose Cardenal on the hit let Luis Aparicio score the tying run. Brooks Robinson then singled in the tie-breaker and Powell singled home another run.

The Twins rapped 14 hits in the opener with Harmon Killebrew slamming a double and two singles. A five-run fifth inning in which Killebrew doubled home a run and scored another put it away.

In the nightcap, the Twins again packed five runs into one inning, this time the third, and experienced youngsters such as 24-year-old Kermit Zarley, 28-year-old Homero Blancas and 29-year-old Tommy Aaron, Aaron went into the final round with a one-stroke lead over the field, but Casper went in front on the third hole with a 12-foot birdie putt and dared the others to catch him.

Gay Brewer, with a 34-37-71, finished second with a 286, three strokes behind the winner, and took down second money of $12,000. Aaron blew to a 75 and Zarley shot a 74 as the youngsters settled for 187 total shots for a third-place tie and $6,250 each.

"It think it's a little tougher for them," said Casper in reference to the younger set's failure to catch him. "You'll notice Brewer, a seasoned pro, stood right in there. But the kids get a little excited."

"I know how it is," said Casper. "I went through it myself. But I played the game exactly as I would have if anyone else happened to be chasing me."

Palmer, shooting a final round of 38-34-72 for 289, was not among those chasing Casper and finished in a tie for ninth. Arnie took down only $2,400 giving him $65,817 for the year.

Casper, who attributed his fine showing to the fact that he did not have a single three-putt green, zoomed to a total of $69,749 for the year.

Terrell Seeks To Boost Bid

HOUSTON (AP) — Ernie Terrell, a towering man who thinks he should be called world's heavyweight boxing champion because he represents the only world association, tries to boost his claim here Tuesday against tough Doug Jones.

Terrell, recognized by the World Boxing Association but not accorded such distinction in New York, California and Massachusetts and by many fans, will be clashing with the fellow who gave Cassius Clay, Ernie's chief tormentor, a rough evening.

Jones and quite a few others still contend that Doug should have had the decision.

And it is on this basis that Terrell expects to gain the respect he figures is due a champion "who has beaten all the good boys."

"I think I'll beat him bad," Terrell said as he wound up training with a fast four rounds against a couple of sparring partners who each received a strong right-hand shot.

"I probably will knock him out but if I don't it will still be a bad beating," growled the 6-foot-6 Terrell. "That ought to help wipe away this thing that's hanging over me that Clay is the real champion."

Clay generally is regarded as the heavyweight champion, which infuriates Terrell, who never has met Cassius except in a gym for a sparring session.

Terrell Confused?
Terrell has been talking so much about Clay in his training here that Jones says Ernie must be confused about whom he is fighting Tuesday night.

"I'll have to straighten him out," quipped Jones, who will be five inches shorter and 20 pounds lighter when they climb into the ring at Sam Houston Coliseum at 8 p.m., CST, for 15 rounds, and will depend on superior speed to carry him through.

An examination of the records of the two would indicate Terrell should be a solid favorite. They started fighting within a year of each other and Terrell has a 38-4 record compared to 29-6-1 for Jones.

Terrell won the World Boxing Association championship in 1965 when he beat Eddie Machen in 15 and then defended his title successfully against George Chuvalo in 15.

Jones lost to Clay in 11 in 1963. In 1964, Jones was knocked out by Chuvalo in 11.

However, Jones has shown so well in workouts here that Terrell will be only a 6 to 5 favorite.

COMEBACK NETS
NCAA TITLE
STANFORD, Calif. (AP) — Bob Murphy of Florida won the NCAA golf title the same way he won the National Amateur — with a gritty comeback and a string of spectacular golf plays.

He reeled off a string of six birdies in nine holes, starting with the sixth, carved out a four-under-par 67 and won the NCAA title Saturday with a 283.

Murphy's 67-best round of the tourney over the 6,835-yard, par 71 Stanford University layout, held off a closing rush by Vinny Giles of Georgia. It also wiped out the third-round lead of Arne Dokka of Los Angeles state.

Giles shot a 68 final round for 285, two strokes back of Murphy and three ahead of Dokka, who blew to a final 74, and Bob Dickson of Oklahoma State.

Dokka and Dickson each scored 288.

Casper Takes New Stride Past Palmer

CHICAGO (AP) — Billy Casper, in command of himself and his game, won the Western Open Sunday by letting a corps of youngsters flounder in his wake and took another stride past faltering Arnold Palmer.

The 35-year-old Casper shot a steady one-under-par 35-35-70 for a 283 total, the only score to better Medinah No. 3's par of 284 for 72 holes. He picked up the top prize of $20,000 to wrest the PGA money-winning lead from Palmer, whom he defeated in a playoff for the National Open crown last week.

Casper took dead aim at less experienced youngsters such as 24-year-old Kermit Zarley, 28-year-old Homero Blancas and 29-year-old Tommy Aaron, Aaron went into the final round with a one-stroke lead over the field, but Casper went in front on the third hole with a 12-foot birdie putt and dared the others to catch him.

Gay Brewer, with a 34-37-71, finished second with a 286, three strokes behind the winner, and took down second money of $12,000. Aaron blew to a 75 and Zarley shot a 74 as the youngsters settled for 187 total shots for a third-place tie and $6,250 each.

Pants Color Tipoff To Personality

By HAL BOYLE
 NEW YORK (AP) - Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:
 The color of pants you wear is a tipoff to your personality, according to Emanuel G. Rosenblat, slacks manufacturer. "For example, athletic people like red, egotists like yellow, convivial folks prefer orange, and cultural people go for purple."

Most moonlighters don't work by moonlight. The average moonlighter is a family man between 25 and 44, and the 13 hours a week he works extra are usually put in on weekends or after finishing his regular job.

At the age of 4 a child's brain has reached 90 per cent of its full weight. Scientists are still puzzling over studies that show a woman's brains begin to shrink in weight after 30, a man's not until he's 40.

Ever think your scotch drink had a faint whiff of bourbon in it? Chances are it may have. By law, oak barrels in which bourbon is aged can be used in this country only once. So thrifty Scots buy up a million of the used barrels each year and use them to age their whisky.

Educators fret because half the students in college freshman classes drop out before winning a degree. But eventually seven out of 10 do finally graduate within a 10-year period.

If you like to shoot crows, one way to lure them is to put up a stuffed owl in a tree. Crows hate and fear owls, but in daylight will attack them.

Quotable notables: "never practice what you preach. If you're going to practice it, why preach it?" Lincoln Steffens.

Health hint for backyard chefs: If you barbecue your hands instead of the steak, wash them quickly in mild soap and cold water. Cold water helps soothe minor burns.

America now has 22 million teen-agers - of whom not more than 20 million are usually using the phone at the same time.

That boy of yours having trouble making up his mind about a career? The airlines are crying for new pilots now. After 10 or 12 years, pilot captains earn up to $33,000 annually.

 If your new dental plates are causing you to slip or slur, try saying this sentence over and over to improve your pronunciation: "Sarah, in a shawl, shoveled soft snow softly."

Prosperity note: Food now costs the American average family only 19 cents out of every dollar of income, after taxes.
 But in England it's 29 cents, in France 31 cents, in Japan 47 cents and in the Soviet Union 53 cents.

Business Mirror

By SAM DAWSON
 AP Business News Analyst
 NEW YORK (AP) - An interest rate war is brewing. On both coasts banks and savings and loan associations are announcing that they'll pay more on some forms of savings accounts effective July 1. Any one lucky enough to have some spare cash may be in a position to play coy and be wooed.

Congress has been talking of regulating this battle for savers.
 Some congressmen dislike high interest rates, period. Others are alarmed at the form the battle is taking: the luring of customers from one kind of financial institution to another.
 But Thursday, the House Banking Committee threw up its hands and tossed the complicated question of putting limits on how much interest can be paid on what form of account over to the Federal Reserve Board with a plea for action.

The Fed has been active in talking quietly to commercial bankers about what it co-siders an allied but perhaps more pressing danger, and one more squarely in its province: the granting of loans for projects that could be considered more speculative than pro-uctive.

And the spurt of interest rate increases over recent weeks works both ways: for savers or for borrowers.

Savers are getting more for their money, whether they put it in U.S. Savings Bonds, deposit it in some types of commercial bank accounts, invest it with mutual savings banks, or deal with savings and loan associations.

 - Borrowers are likely to be paying more interest on loans from banks, mortgages, or monthly installment payments for cars or appliances.

Commercial banks are allowed by legal regulation to pay no more than 4 per cent for regular savings accounts with withdrawal privileges. But the biggest banks in many parts of the nation are paying 5 per cent or more on large amounts that can't be withdrawn over a specified period. The largest banks in New York City pay 5 per cent for accounts that must be $2,500 or more and held for nine months.

Most mutual savings banks were paying dividends at the rate of 4 1/2 per cent on regular savings - ones readily withdrawable - until January. Then most went to 4 1/4 per cent. But now one of the largest in New York City says it will pay a 5 per cent dividend on regular accounts. Another big one says it will pay 5 per cent on accounts that must be held for specified terms.

As the interest war spreads, two of the largest savings and loan associations in California announce they'll go up from the 5 per cent with which they've been rewarding savers. They'll start paying 5 1/4 per cent on passbook accounts and 5 1/2 per cent on accounts held for a long period.

Why all this generosity to those who save for short or long periods?

Because the banks and the associations are short of money
 - and this, despite the continuing rise in the nation's total supply of money. The demand for loans has been rising faster than the banks could lay hands on lendable funds. So they've raised interest rates to lure those with idle cash.

 The associations have been losing funds. Some withdrawn money may have gone to the competing banks, some to buy stocks, some to pay taxes. But the associations say they haven't enough lendable funds to meet the needs of the mortgage market - and that home building will suffer.
 That's why Congress and the monetary authorities are concerned. Home building is lagging. Demand for business loans has risen even while the monetary watchdogs have been trying to restrain over exuberance by keeping credit moderately tight - and interest charges high.
 The saver is sitting pretty at the moment.

PITTSFIELD GREETS CENTENNIAL GROUP FROM ROODHOUSE

PITTSFIELD - At the regular meeting of the Pittsfield city council, June 21st, a letter was read from the Roodhouse city council stating that a centennial caravan would arrive here about 2:30 p.m. Saturday, June 25, from Roodhouse. The group will meet Pittsfield city officials and their wives and other Pittsfield citizens at the city hall where light refreshments will be served. Mayor and Mrs. Frank Penstone will be made honorary citizens of Roodhouse.

The city council reviewed correspondence from the Jewel Tea Company regarding a city ordinance covering itinerant peddlers and door-to-door sales.
 Jewel Tea contends it is not subject to the ordinance, but the city council disagreed. City Attorney A. W. Schimmel was instructed to notify the company that the council is of the opinion that an annual fee of

American Singer Wins Top Prize In Russ Contest

By JOHN WEYLAND
MOSCOW (AP) — A 24-year-old California soprano, who didn't discover music until five years ago is the first American winner of a top prize in the Tchaikovsky competition since Van Cliburn in 1958.

Jane Marsh of Mill Valley, daughter of a San Francisco obstetrician, was awarded first prize for women singers Sunday night. She won $2,750, a gold medal and valuable publicity.

Two American Negroes won lesser prizes. Veronica Tyler, 28, Baltimore, tied with a Bulgarian for third place in the women's division. Simon Estes, 28, New York, was third in the men's division. A Russian won the men's prize. One other American singer in the finals was Barbara Rondelli, 27, of Pittsburgh, Kan.

As a teen-ager, Miss Marsh said, "I didn't know I had a voice and neither did anybody else." At Mill Valley's Tammalpais High School she showed great promise as a swimmer and won the state title in the free-style crawl in 1957-59. Her coach wanted her to try for the Olympics, but she declined because she would have had to give swimming all her time. She discovered music at 19, while majoring in psychology at Oberlin College, in Ohio.

"I had some friends who went to the conservatory, and I found I enjoyed going with them. I discovered I had a voice. That was it. I was hooked."

High school teachers are as follows: Roberta Meek, Jacksonville, Counselor; Richard Nelson, Clay City, Illinois, history; James Musick, Pawnee, Illinois, French and Spanish; Frank Long, Quincy, Illinois, P.E., driver education, and basketball; Ivan Pagett, Macon, Missouri, Art; Richard Anthony, Roodhouse, Illinois, Math; John Willetts, Jacksonville, science; Kathy English, Jacksonville, English-Speech; Jean Chapman, Jacksonville, home economics, and Donna Wambach, Park Ridge, Illinois, English. Ed Ahlquist has been transferred from Turner to the high school to teach courses in electricity and electronics. John Althoff has moved from high school history to the gifted program.

Turner junior high school has a complete faculty with Leonard Mau, Vernon Center, Minnesota, industrial arts; Dan Flynn, Jacksonville, English and social studies; Richard Ezard, Jacksonville, English and social studies; Warren Owens, Virden, Illinois, science; Doty LaGassie, Jacksonville, girls' P.E.; and Aileen Wright, Jacksonville, science. John Van Huss will assume new responsibilities as assistant principal and Edward Hackman has moved from Murrayville to teach English and social studies.

There has been less turnover than usual in the elementary schools. At Lafayette, Edith Davis will continue in the fifth grade where she taught most of last year and Sherry Reneau, Ipava, Illinois, will have the physical education.

At Franklin Josephine Marquardt of Valmeyer, Illinois, will teach a 2nd and 3rd grade room, Susan Bliss, Jacksonville, will have a 3rd and 4th grade room, and Ruth Curtis will move from Murrayville to teach a 4th grade. A kindergarten vacancy still exists.

Mary Ross, East St. Louis, will have a second grade at Lincoln, and Becky Jo Forner, Colchester, Illinois, will be the new physical education teacher.

At South Jacksonville, Mary Jane Seely, Jacksonville, will teach physical education and Arlene Beebe, Palmyra, N.Y., will have a fourth grade.

At Murrayville, three men will have the fifth and sixth grades. W. C. Mullinex, Sims, Illinois, Earle Coleman, Chicago, and James O'Brien, Jacksonville. The new music teacher will be Joyce Pratt of Jacksonville.

Marshall Fowler, Alton, Illinois, will replace O. E. Schuette in instrumental music. Two new special education teachers are Gerald DeKnight, Turner, and Ronald Altstadt, high school. In the special reading program, Mary Frances Tunison, is the new librarian; Elizabeth Morris will supervise the program; and John Freehill will teach the high school class.

BURGLARY SUSPECTS ESCAPE SUNDAY

City police chased a break-in suspect at high rates of speed before losing the trail early Sunday morning and later found two places of business in Jacksonville had been broken into.

Officers in the night patrol car discovered burglary tools near the rear of Cox Buick, Inc., 331 North Main street. While police were investigating, a car in the area left at a high rate of speed and police followed. The chase covered the northern part of Jacksonville and adjacent roads.

Later officers discovered that offices had been broken into at the Jacksonville Machine and Boiler Works and the Elm City Produce, both adjacent to Cox Buick-Pontiac on the north.

The safe was opened at the Elm City Produce, but it was not determined what was missing.

Greene County Coroner William Wolfe identified the dead man as twenty-year-old Gerald A. Lucas, who would have been a senior at Illinois College in Jacksonville next year.

State police said that Lucas, driving alone, struck a bridge abutment and his car overturned on the highway. He was pinned in the vehicle when found by a truck driver.

The body was taken to the Shields Funeral Home in Greenfield, and later removed to St. Louis for services and burial Wednesday.

Lonesome Road For Pike Man

JACKSONVILLE, Ill. (AP)—A 93-year-old man has been confined to a state mental hospital since 1899 and records show he has never had a visitor in the 67 years.

The Chicago Daily News said today that Robert Johnson, not his real name—was brought to the Illinois Central Hospital for the Insane Feb. 18, 1899.

Illinois law prohibits the publication of mental patients' names.

A six-man jury heard his case at the time and officially concluded Johnson suffered from a clear-cut case of idiosyncrasy. The result: He has never lived in the outside world in the 20th Century.

A transcript of the sanity hearing in 1899 contains only vague notations written in long-hand such as "wants to wander and stray about."

A doctor testified that the young man — then 26 — had a "nervous temperament and suffered attacks of idiosyncrasy."

There was a unanimous verdict for commitment, closing out court file 1565. But a new file was opened when the Pike County sheriff delivered the patient to the hospital.

The hospital is now known as Jacksonville State Hospital.

At 93, Johnson is alert and cheerful, but still disturbed and confused. The latest annual notation in his file is the same as in all previous ones: "health satisfactory no marked change in mental condition."

He apparently has never had a visitor, although he received a Christmas package in 1919 from a relative in Kansas. A notation entered in the file 15 years ago said "no relatives interested."

From the first, Johnson apparently was calm and cooperative, as he is today. He is able to walk, talk, write his name and read large type.

Johnson told the Daily News he didn't know where he was or why he was there, but "I came to help build the building in 1900."

A nurse said Johnson may have been led to believe this was why he was brought to the hospital 67 years ago.

Dr. Vedad Oge, hospital clinical director, said the patient was probably psychotic when he was admitted.

Dr. Oge said there has never been any improvement in Johnson's condition and his treatment has consisted only of isolation from society.

Dr. Oge said the patient is too old to begin new treatment now. Numerous discoveries have been made in the past 67 years to treat mental illness. But they have come too late to help Johnson who has been isolated from the public since the last century.

Car-Tractor Crash Leaves Drivers Unhurt

A car-tractor accident two miles west of Point Church on the Merritt blacktop road about 11 o'clock Monday morning caused heavy damage to both vehicles but left the drivers unhurt.

Both vehicles were eastbound at the time of the accident. A tractor driven by D. F. Gustafson, 67, of Route 2, was headed east along the blacktop and moving weeds along the side of the road. A second vehicle, a car driven by Norman G. Henson, 25, of Merritt, also headed east, crashed into the tractor driven by Gustafson.

Sheriff Harold Wright and Deputy Dean Colwell investigated at the scene of the accident. Sheriff Wright said the Gustafson tractor turned left in front of the auto. The car left several feet of skid marks but struck the tractor which was broken into two pieces. The car overturned in a ditch a few feet from the demolished tractor.

Gustafson was still seated in the tractor seat after the accident, the front end of the tractor was lying about 15 feet from the rear portion.
